Garbage Rates Go Up Nov. 2

Despite protests by citizens who charged the Daly City Scavenger Co. with making excessive profits, the City Council voted unanimously Monday to raise garbage rates 5.3 percent, effective Nov. 2.

The rate increase raises the current garbage rate by 22 cents to $4.32 monthly. Residents pointed out that it was the second garbage rate increase this year. The previous rate hike was instituted Feb. 13, when the council raised the rate 65 cents per month — the first increase since May 1976.

Representing the Daly City Scavenger Co., accountant Richard Dwyer admitted under questioning by Councilman Albert Teglia that the average scavenger worker makes $26,000 to $27,000 per year. "That's for a laborer. Drivers get more," he said.

And Dwyer told the council to expect another rate increase next year since the scavengers' union contract expires then and must be renegotiated with salary hikes taken into consideration.

Although council members did not voice any hesitation about the increase prior to their unanimous vote, Councilman James Tucker hastened to add after he voted that he intends to "make a motion concerning franchises."

At a study session following the meeting, Tucker explained that he would like to see a citizens' committee formed to study all of Daly City's franchises. The purpose, he said, would be "not to dispute anyone's facts and figures. It would give a third view."

Tucker said he will propose forming the committee at the council's next meeting, Oct. 10.

In his explanation to the council, Dwyer said the scavenger company needs higher garbage rates to offset higher costs incurred by the company. When the Mussel rock dump was closed, Dwyer noted the company was paying a disposal fee charged by the Sanitary Land Fill Co. of $14.30 per ton.

He said the rate was raised to $15.45 per ton on July 1 and would increase to $17.90 per ton when the Mussel Rock transfer station opens, that's scheduled to Jan. 1, 1979.

Mayor William Schumacher questioned Dwyer closely about the company's equipment replacement fund. Dwyer said the scavengers set aside $10,500 each month in that fund.

Schumacher also asked Dwyer whether the company encumbers or disperses its $76,055 after-tax profit, as shown on a financial statement for Jan. 1 to June 30, 1978. Dwyer said $65,000 of that amount is unrestricted.

However, Dwyer added that he doubts the company will show more than $ 2,000 or $3,000 profit by the end of 1978.

During a public hearing on the proposed rate hike, citizens protested that the scavenger company's six partners are making $300,000 per year and claimed they have a cozy relationship with Daly City.

William Wade of the Westlake Homeowners' Association said the partners don't have to worry about competition, don't have to invest any capital and don't have to supervise workers much.

"The six owners receive a total compensation of approximately $300,000 right off the top and this amounts to about 50 percent of gross revenues," Wade remarked, adding that such an arrangement has no place in what is, in effect, a public utility.

Wade asked the council not to raise rates by taking into account higher costs foreseen when the transfer station opens.

"Let's make sure the transfer station is operational and then talk about an increase," he said.

He recommended authorizing a 1.7 percent increase instead of the 5.3 percent requested by the scavenger company.

City Manager David Rowe did not dispute Wade's statement that the six partners make $300,000 but he said each makes an average salary of $39,760 and that the remaining cost is due to benefits.

He also said that construction of the transfer station is on schedule. It is due to open Jan. 1.

Asked by Tucker whether a delay in the opening of the transfer station would give the company a windfall, Rowe said, "Yes. As to whether it's a windfall or a reduction of their loss is open to interpretation."

Another resident, Harold Calder, charged the scavengers with having a monopoly and asked the counci to set up some kind

MAKING IT OFFICIAL

Daly City Mayor William Schumacher signs a proclamation declaring Oct. 6 and 7 as "White Cane Days" while Daly City Host Lions Club President Don Fleming, left, and White Cane Chairman Don Ciucci look on. The Lions hope to raise $750,000 during the White Cane drive. The funds will be used to support eye-oriented foundations, eye banks, eye research centers and hospital eye wings. Lions will be collecting at Bank of America and Crocker Bank offices in Daly City. They have sponsored White Cane Days every October since 1953.

New Budget Gains Almost $1 Million

The council also approved the city's 1978-79 budget, which amounts to $15,213,930, and a $20,000 street repaving project.

The budget includes nearly $1 million in additional expenditures that the council approved in September after learning of higher-than-anticipated revenues from property taxes, city permit fees (which the council voted to increase after passage of Proposition 13) and Daly City's share of the state's $5 billion surplus.

Councilman James Tucker was the only council member to oppose the repaving of 1,300 feet of Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

City Manager David Rowe had explained that the county unknowingly included that portion of the road that is within Daly City's limits when it made plans to repave the rest of the parkway.

Rowe said the city staff recommended paying the $20,000 required, since the road is in need of repair.

But Tucker said he didn't like being forced into a repaving project "because of a mistake by the county."

D. C. Howls Over BART Parking Plan

Plans by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's Board of Directors to allow only San Francisco residents to use a 250-space parking lot near the Daly City BART station are "discriminatory," according to the Daly City City Council.

The council decided at a Monday study session to ask the city attorney about legal steps Daly City can take to block BART's plans for the lot.

City Manager David Rowe said the first word Daly City had of the plan came in a BART press release received Monday. The release said BART intends to make the lot near the intersection of Interstate 280 and 19th Avenue available in about two months to "district residents." Only San Francisco residents qualify as district residents.

"Excluding us would be discriminatory by law," Councilman James Tucker said. He added, "It seems if 250 stalls were made available and only 80 were occupied, BART would have egg on its face."

Ironically, Daly City leased the parking lot for two years while BART was constructing a parking garage in the area. One-third of the lot is within San Francisco's city limits; the other two-thirds in Daly City.

When Daly City's lease expired, San Francisco would not grant another use permit, pointing out that the parking garage was finished.

But the owner of the land, Ophelia Prehn, put the lot up for sale. BART purchased it and now intends to restrict the lot's use to district residents.

JUHSD Teachers OK Pact

As anticipated, trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District approved a new teachers' contract Monday morning at a special meeting at Jefferson High School in Daly City.

The district's teachers ended their 15-day strike last Wednesday after they ratified the contract. Effective through June 30, 1979, the contract gives teachers a 7½ percent pay boost retroactive to Feb. 1, 1978.

The board vote was 4-1 with trustee Ruth Boudinot dissenting.

Mrs. Boudinot explained, "I find it impossible to accept the idea of the district being able to change the assignment of previous expenditures when they have been made in a valid and correct manner."

She was referring to the district's use of bond and civic center fund monies to pay the wage increase. The county Office of Education ruled that it is legal to use those funds for salaries.

Dogfood: Food for Thought

By TERRY DAVENPORT

Alpo Bouguignonne? Gainsburgers a la Provencale?

Those are some of the entrees that Pat Coates and Sandi Piccini worry that the elderly will wind up eating.

The two San Bruno housewives first became attuned to the problem 3½ years ago, when the San Mateo Times published an article with the headline, "Senior Citizens Forced to Eat Dog Food."

Mrs. Coates said, "We couldn't believe it, so we crawled out of out little white ghetto and decided to do something about it."

There was a time when the two women spent most of their days playing bridge, shuttling their kids around and discussing the newest bathroom cleansers on the market.

Soaring food prices prompted them to begin a food cooperative in 1973. As the number of families belonging to their co-op grew from 17 to 34, Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Piccini soon found their garages bulging with carrots and squash.

Before Mrs. Piccini's youngest child, Cynthia, began school, she was counting zucchini.

They noticed one interesting side benefit: Their children and many other youngsters in co-op families had perfect attendance records in school dating from the beginning of their food experiment.

"We realized our health was better because we were not using convenience foods," Mrs. Piccini said.

The thought of old people gulping down dog food convinced them to form a food co-op for seniors. Mrs. Coates explained, "Without food in the body, there's no need to worry about all the other problems seniors have, such as housing and transportation. Food comes first."

They never doubted their ability to do it. Mrs. Piccini said, "We had spent years working with middle class housewives and pulling things off. We knew if we could make tennis and golf and bridge groups work, we could make this work."

Now their venture, called the Food Advisory Service, sells meat and produce to more than 7,000 senior citizens at 81 "mini-markets" around the Bay Area, as far north as Napa and as far south as Santa Clara.

Food is sold at the same prices that Mrs. Piccini and Mrs. Coates pay for it. At various times of the year, seniors can buy avocados for 25 cents each, fresh pineapples for 41 cents each, premium quality chicken for 52 cents per pound and lean ground beef for 89 cents a pound.

In 3½ years, the number of employees has increased from two to more than 80. The organization has sprawled from the Piccini and Coates garages to four warehouses in South San Francisco and a massive office and storage facility in the Brisbane Industrial Park that the two women soon expect to outgrow.

The Food Advisory Service plans to serve an additional 3,000 seniors in Los Angeles by mid-October.

With help from Congressman Leo J. Ryan, (D-San Mateo County), this unusual program for feeding the elderly is receiving national attention. Mrs. Coates even got a pat on the back from the White House in July, when she attended a seminar in Washington, D.C., at the invitation of Rosalynn Carter.

The purpose of that gathering was for community and business leaders to swap ideas for helping the needy. "My dream and Rosalynn Carter's dream is to get the private sector more involved in providing social services," Mrs. Coates said.

At the seminar and at a Congressional briefing held with Ryan's assistance, Mrs. Coates inspired others to action. Since then, she estimates organizations in more than 20 states have asked for help in starting food co-ops for seniors.

Mrs. Coates predicts that money will be their biggest problem, just as it is for the Food Advisory Service. "This whole thing has been held together with nuts, bolts, bailing wire and lots of love," she remarked.

Since the organization makes no profit on the food it sells to seniors, Mrs. Coates spends a great deal of her time trying to find dollars to pay her employees. Her title of executive director, she said, translates to "head hustler." Mrs. Piccini, who is administrative director, is in charge of keeping internal operations running smoothly.

They seldom take salaries themselves. "We usually put our salaries back into the company. We're fortunate to have husbands who support us," Mrs. Piccini commented.

Paying bills is sometimes a matter of "robbing Peter to pay Paul," according to Mrs. Coates. She and Mrs. Piccini have built a side business to help keep Simon Legree off their doorstep.

Called "Gallery Faire," this offshoot began as an art gallery in their garages. Now it is an enormous business that thrives on the "can do" attitude of its employees. All of its profits are plowed back into the food program.

Among Gallery Faire's current projects are cleaning and repacking headsets for airlines, packing plastic silverware and condiments for hospitals, repairing credit card machines, making wine display racks and assembling board rames.

Only one project has proven too difficult. Someone gave them 57,000 pounds of worm manure that supposedly makes ideal plant fertilizer when baked and bagged. Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Piccini haven't yet found a willing buyer, and they're wondering what to do with the peculiar mound in their warehouse.

Gallery Faire's latest sideline is fashion. A cadre of seamstresses is busy designing women's clothing and men's shirts that they vow will be just as attractive and more comfortable than fashions sold in stores.

You won't find any debutantes or rich kids dabbling at these jobs. Food Advisory Service and Gallery Faire employees feel fortunate to be working at all.

Seniors

Among their ranks are ex-convicts, juvenile delinquents, the handicapped and the elderly. Most of them work for the minimum wage.

Not all of these employees keep their noses clean. The organization has had its share of problems with missing goods and employees who fail to report to work. But Administrative Assistant Barbara Herlick said some workers have made amazing transformations during their employment there.

"One fellow had a terrible drinking problem. Now he's got a great job with a packaging plant," she explained.

Ms. Herlick calls former Food Advisory Service employees who break into private industry "graduates." She figures that more than half of the organization's employees have gone on to better-paying jobs. "We're very proud of them," she noted.

The Daly City Police Department's assistance in getting one youth on the right track impressed Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Piccini so much that they are trying to attract some federal monies to jointly run a youth diversion project with the department.

The Food Advisory Service's willingness to employ the "unemployable" already has qualified the organization for a federal grant under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA), which aims to provide on-the-job training for persons with no employment prospects.

But that one-year, $300,000 grant will expire Jan. 1. Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Piccini are crossing their fingers while they wait to hear whether the grant will be extended another year.

Meanwhile, the two women are trying to interest private businesses in sponsoring individual sites where food is dispersed to the elderly for an hour or more each week. They estimate the cost of running each mini-market at $1,700 per year.

Another pet project is trying to talk the federal government into loosening requirements under a program that feeds the elderly hot food at congregate sites. In California, $26 million is poured into this program, yet it serves only one percent of senior citizens in the state.

Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Piccini said they believe the government could get more for its money if the Food Advisory Service were permitted to disperse fresh food at the congregate sites.

Mrs. Coates remarked, "The ideal way to work social service programs is to have everybody assist — state, local and federal governments and also the private sector. We are the only culture that treats our elderly as badly as we do."

In her opinion, low-cost food is only one of the services that seniors should expect. But until the Food Advisory Service's financial worries are over, she and Mrs. Piccini won't have much time to devote to other causes.

Mrs. Coates said, "I would like to see seniors mobilize into groups working on specific problems — health care, Social Security benefits and so forth . . . The legislature wants to help, but first seniors need to get together and be vocal. There really is a thing called senior power in this state. I wonder when seniors will realize they have it."

Shute Fire Burns Apts.

A small fire in a garbage shute Thursday night set off a third-floor fire sprinkler that caused an estimated $4,000 to $5,000 worth of water damage to a building in the large Crown Colony Apartments complex at Hickey Boulevard and Junipero Serra Freeway, according to Daly City firemen.

Heat from the fire accumulated at the top of the shute and set off the sprinkler, with firemen being called at 9:37 p.m. But by the time firemen arrived, water had run all the way down to the basement, damaging carpets, walls, ceilings and electrical fixtures along the way, firemen said.

It took them till midnight to clean up as much of the mess as they could, they went on.

Directory Destroyed

Mrs. Birke Sues the City

Daly City has been slapped with a $43,500 lawsuit by Ramona Birke, publisher of a city directory since 1964.

Mrs. Birke's lawyer, Albin Danell, explained in a letter to the city that the recent endorsement by the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce of another corporation's directory "has destroyed Mrs. Birke's business and caused her great mental anguish."

Birke is claiming damages amounting to $42,000 for her business, $1,500 in attorney's fees and "continuing damages if this matter is not amicably resolved immediately."

The City Council is expected to deny the claim at its next meeting Oct. 10 and refer it to the city attorney.

City Manager David Rowe said, "The city has had no connection whatsoever with the publishing of any directory and, in that respect, her claim seems misdirected."

Chamber Manager Peter Markovich also denies that his organization has damaged Mrs. Birke's business. "Nobody's stopping her from printing her directory," he said, pointing out that the latest edition of Mrs. Birke's "Daly City-Colma City Directory" came off the press on schedule in September.

Markovich explained that the Chamber never endorsed a city directory in the past because it didn't need the money. But when Daly City cut back $20,000 of the Chamber's budget this year, he said the organization began searching for other sources of money.

By endorsing another Daly City directory published by the Northern California Publishing Co., Inc., of Foster City, the Chamber expects to make more than $4,000 this year.

The new directory will list businesses and residents. Mrs. Birke's directory lists only businesses.

Markovich said there's room in Daly City for Mrs. Birke's directory, too. He maintains that it was inevitable that she would run into competition. "If this outfit hadn't come in, I understand General Telephone was going to come out with its own city directory," the Chamber manager said.

of public utilities commission to regulate it.

He added, "I would like the City Council to consider some form of competition. If you can't find any, do away with the company and have a city-run operation."

Calder said San Bruno's recent garbage strike was very disturbing.

Conrad Pavellas of the original Daly City Protective Association agreed that a citizens' committee is necessary.

Julius Castelan complained that the increase would hurt Daly City's poorer residents. He, too, pointed out that the company partners are getting a substantial return on their investment in the company.

Security Pacific Bank is giving away something we sincerely hope you'll never need... a highway emergency kit.

Just let us help you finance a new or used car, truck or RV.

We hope you'll never need the flashing yellow light that plugs into your cigarette lighter. Or the flares or first aid kit. Or the fire extinguisher, tire inflator, orange safety vest, or distress flag.

The flashlight and red shade might come in handy, if you stop to help someone who didn't get a new vehicle when they needed it.

Of course, anyone could run out of gas and need the siphon included in the kit.

Clearly, if you aren't thinking of a new or used car, truck or recreational vehicle, a free emergency kit won't convince you to let us give you a loan for one. But if you're thinking about it anyway, perhaps the free kit and a special rate reduction for having a Master Charge or Visa card with us, and another reduction on your rate for using our Automatic Transfer Service to repay the loan will sway you in our direction.

We'll give you the free highway emergency kit if you lease a new car from us, too.

This offer ends on October 31, 1978.

So don't think about it too long. We'll try to make getting your new vehicle so easy you hardly have to think about it.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Action Center of San Mateo County, with offices in Burlingame, Redwood City and Daly City.

BAYSHORE CHILDCARE CENTER in Daly City feels that volunteers bring in their own experience which has enriching effects in their program. The center needs people to help care for infants, toddlers and pre-schoolers. It invites interested people to call or visit the center.

NORTH COUNTY MENTAL HEALTH has meetings on the fourth Thursday of each month and needs participation from concerned citizens to promote mental health in the North County. The meetings are from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Participants must live in Brisbane, Pacifica, Daly City or South San Francisco.

AMERICAN RED CROSS in South San Francisco needs a "Vital English instructor" to teach basic conversational English to Spanish-speaking people on a one-to-one basis.

For further information about these and other volunteer opportunities contact the Volunteer Bureau at the main office in Burlingame at 342-0301. Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment through the North County number, 992-0957. Hours at the main office are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, until 7:30 Wednesday. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded, in part, by the County of San Mateo.

For students interested in volunteer work there is a volunteer office, Y.O.U. on the campuses of College of San Mateo and Canada College.

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

Kids, their care and feeding — there's no more important subject in the world.

Fashions in feeding children change. Once there was only one method, provided by Mother Nature and baby's mother. Then in the 1920's technology brought solid foods to the infants of America. As the years rolled by, the choice of goodies dazzled mothers' eyes and babies' tongues. Long before Buster reached age one, he had sampled and spit out a gourmet selection of cereals, main dishes, meat dishes, vegetables, fruits, desserts and juices.

How lucky the baby born in this age of miracles!

No so lucky, say most pediatricians, who now are advocating a back-to-nature feeding for the new crop of babies. These physicians are overwhelmed with a number of grade-schoolers and adolescents who are overweight. While they reduce the older brother and sister, they practice preventive medicine on the newborns.

Best tips for feeding small children, according to Dr. Abraham Bergman, director of out-patient services at Children's Orthopedic Hospital in Seattle, Wash. are these:

- Breast feed for at least six months.
- Introduce plain solids — vegetables and fruits.
- Avoid the mixed meals and the desserts.
- Promote sensible eating habits for the entire family.

The new style in babies is slimmer babies. The new style in mommies is slimmer mommies as well. In fact, slim families are in vogue today.

To put your family into the slim scene, try thin-down recipes that feature skimmed milk. This recipe is particularly good for a mother who is breast-feeding an infant.

CARAMEL FLAVORED CUSTARD

- 2 cups non-fat skim milk, scaled
- 2 packs artificial sweetener
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 eggs

Put all ingredients except milk into blender and process until smooth. Add scalded milk and blend thoroughly. Pour into custard cups and bake in a pan of hot water at 350 degrees until firm or when toothpick comes out clean.

'Parent Power' Up

Perspective

By ARVILLE FINACOM

There are strange rumblings crossing California in the wake of "quake" 13. One almost can hear the swell of many voices saying, "Take an interest." "Get involved." "Be counted."

The call is out for people willing to monitor and evaluate the institutions they let bureaucracy construct — to return, as it were, to the administrative driver's seat.

IN THE schools, "parent power" is a direct result of increasing parent involvement. And involvement expressed in many more ways than the traditional PTA treats for special occasions.

In the elapsed time of 16 years it took my three sons to travel through 13 years of public schooling I observed a dramatic shift in the depth of parent involvement.

When my eldest son entered Millbrae's Highlands School in fall, 1962, direct parent involvement was limited to preparing party snacks for Halloween, Christmas and Valentine's Day and leaving them at the classroom door. One visited school if there were "problems" or on "open house" days when classrooms were at their spit and polish best, often with only perfect student work displayed. Parents didn't even go to school for formal parent-teacher conferences. These didn't start district-wide in Millbrae until 1968.

But as the 60s approached mid-point, education began to find itself in deep trouble. Teachers trained in the late 40s and early 50s, when they were assured by college instructors that educators "always knew best," found they didn't have all the answers. Increasingly, teachers began to see that parents — good, bad or indifferent — were the single most important factor in a child's educational readiness and response. Once this fact was recognized, parent involvement in the schools was seen as a vital necessity.

AS EARLY as 1967, a corps of parent volunteers at Highlands in Millbrae began to be the extra hands, eyes and ears for the classroom teachers. They drilled small groups of students, stressing reading and math skills. They prepared teaching materials, often at home on their own time. They came to teach crafts and arts, to share ethnic and cultural backgrounds, to open the door to hundreds of youngsters to the delights of diversity.

They spared no personal time or expense to take the children out of Highlands into the larger Millbrae community and away from it to visit spots where first-hand experience would enrich lives and learning experiences would be strengthened.

Most importantly, they became the vital liaison between the home and the school. They shared what they saw and learned in the classroom with other parents. Others became involved. Soon, spin-off from the successful program at Highlands reached other schools in Millbrae and, when Early Childhood Education became law, mandating the use of para-professionals, some of these were the classroom volunteers of earlier years.

ECE mandated more than para-professionals in the classroom. It mandates parent involvement in the planning process. Anyone whose child has gone through the primary grades in the last five years knows what I mean when I say that parent involvement on school advisory committees leads to far greater interest in and understanding of the whole education process and results in better parenting as well as honest vision of the strengths and weaknesses in the educational system. Parents who have involved themselves in ECE begin to get a greater feel for what public education is trying to accomplish than those who sit back and, from a distance, state an opinion.

PARENT involvement on school district advisory committees is a logical step from involvement on single-school committees and running for a seat on the school board is a natural next step for those who feel not only committed to the idea of involvement but also feel they have other skills to offer.

To show how parent involvement in the schools today can be any or many of these things, one of the sessions being offered Thursday at 17th District PTA's Fall Conference is titled "Parent Involvement."

The six panelists — all but one from Millbrae — plan to share their ideas of involvement and how it has enriched the educational process for children, their own as well as others.

Jo Marie Moresco, last past president of Highlands PTA, developed craft classes for third and fourth graders and also worked for several years in the school library as a non-teaching but skilled communicator.

MaryStella flynn, when co-president of Meadows PTA, planned and presented a popular series of hobby/game/craft after-school classes for students.

DELYNDA SATERO, current president of the Millbrae Council of PTAs, is an organizer. Her parent involvement has been primarily on the adult level, coordinating ideas, helping one group of parents in the community understand the involvement needs and goals of others.

Jacqueline Himes, past president of both Highlands PTA and Taylor Intermediate PTA, shares Mrs. Satero's organizational expertise. For two years her special avenue of service was being a parent representative on the Millbrae School District Advisory Committee.

Bonnie Bertetta, past co-president of Meadows PTA, with Mrs. Flynn, not only still works as a classroom volunteer, she also served on the school district advisory committee and today is a member of the Millbrae School District Board of Trustees.

Betty Curtis of San Mateo is a trustee of the San Mateo Union High School District. Her interest and involvement in school affairs led her through a series of many activities culminating in her co-chairmanship several years ago of a SMUHSD advisory committee which developed long- and short-range recommendations for the district based on two years of study.

With the rapid changes in student enrollment as families move around the country, parent involvement continually is fresh. And who knows but what this year's new involvement will be the key needed to reconstruct successfully the nation's faltering public education system.

Pre-School Children Offered Rec Classes

The Daly City Recreation Department has announced fall programs for pre-school children. Registration is being accepted for Kindergym, 3 to 5 years of age.

Younger children will not be accepted. Designed to develop motor skills and coordination through basic play and movement exploration, coordination games will be included. Classes are limited to 10 students. Children should wear play-clothes and rubber-soled shoes.

Five-week sessions at Westlake Community Center, 145 Lake Merced Blvd., will be Thursday, 9:30 to 10:15 a.m. or 10:30 to 11:15 a.m.

Session II is Nov. 9 to Dec. 14.

Registration deadline is Nov. 7. Fee per session is $6 for residents, $9 for non-residents.

Pre-school creative dramatics for 3-5 years of age, will explore the world of children's imagination through dramatic games, music, storytelling, and crafts. Classes are limited to 15 students.

Five-week sessions at Westlake Park Clubhouse will be Mondays, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. or 11 a.m. to noon.

Session II is Nov. 13 to Dec. 11, with registration deadline Nov. 8. Fee per session is $5 for residents and $7.50 for non-residents.

Registration and further information may be obtained by contacting the Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., Daly City.

THE GOURMET By Petrini's Presents

DIAMOND JIM ROAST

No Sign of Bone Lots of Fine Flavor!

Only a Prime Rib Could Be Any Better

Use a 6 to 7 lb. Diamond Jim roast. Allow roast to reach room temperature before placing in oven (from 3 to 4 hours). Place roast in shallow roasting pan, do not cover. Set oven at 450 degrees for the first 30 minutes. Then drop temperature to 350 degrees for the remainder of time. Cooking time in total — 18 to 22 minutes per pound depending on degree of doneness desired. Let roast set in serving platter 5 to 7 minutes before slicing. Salt and pepper to taste.

If desired, rosemary, thyme, garlic powder or Italian seasoning may be added.

You may also place this roast on a spit over charcoal if desired — allow ½-lb. of meat per serving.

COLUMBUS DAY THEME

Marie Farnsworth puts up a poster telling what the Broadmoor Property Owners Association Parade and Carnival Saturday is all about. The Columbus Day-theme parade will start at 1 p.m. from the BPOA community center, 501 87th St., with a carnival there from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. that day. Italian food, live music and various contests and games will be offered.

Mary's Help Honors Helpful 'Volunteens'

At this fall's Carnation Tribute, 50 young people were honored for their contributions to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City. Each "Volunteen" received a carnation and 36 were presented with hour pins. Their combined work represents a total of approximately 7,000 hours of service to the hospital and its patients, according to Mary McCoy, director of Volunteens.

The work Volunteens do at the hospital keeps them busy in all departments and on all patient floors. They escort patients in wheelchairs, run errands for patients and staff, deliver mail and flowers, and assist with admissions and discharge.

The girls wear pink-striped pinafores; the boys, gold jackets with light pants. They may begin their volunteer careers at 15 and come from high schools in Daly City, Colma, Millbrae, San Bruno, South San Francisco, Pacifica and San Francisco. At other hospitals, they are often called "candy stripers" because of the girls' pinafores, but at Mary's Help they are called "Volunteens" to encourage participation by young men.

Hospital nurses say the Volunteens are helpful, eager to learn and good for patient morale. Patients find that Volunteens brighten their days; they like having young people around.

Volunteening can give young people the chance to contribute and to receive recognition. In addition, it can give them the chance to explore the possibility of a health care career.

Some former MHH Volunteens have become x-ray technicians, occupational therapists and nurses; some are planning to go to medical school and some have rejected a medical career altogether. Whether a Volunteen goes into health care or not, the time spent at Mary's Help is not wasted, according to Mrs. McCoy. "A health care career is not for everyone," she says, "and it's better to find out through volunteer experience whether or not a teenager would become a good doctor or nurse than to devote years to education for an ultimately unsatisfying career."

EASY WAY IN?

This $39,000 ramp gives persons in wheelchairs easy access to City Hall — until they reach the top. The glass doors of the building are nearly impossible for someone in a wheelchair to open.

Maybe the Handicapped Will Like It

Story by Terry Davenport

Four intercoms costing $16,000, a $39,000 ramp and a $103,000 parking lot are part of a revamping project at Daly City's City Hall designed to make the building more accessible to the handicapped.

The federal government has given the city a total of $340,000 to modify restrooms, building an elevator, install parking spaces restricted for the handicapped, put in a ramp and hook up four speakers outside of main entrances to the building. The modifications are expected to be finished by Christmas.

Assistant City Manager Ray Letsinger stressed that none of Daly City's money is being spent on the project. Financing came from a federal Economic Development Administration grant.

Daly City is one of many cities across the nation that qualified for grants The federal program was begun after advocates of the handicapped argued that it was illegal to bar disabled persons from participating in government merely because of the design of a building.

To date, the zig-zagging ramp from the rear parking lot and the handicapped parking lot have been completed. Acting City Engineer Clarence Mobley said he expects the intercom system to be completed soon.

There are four speakers in the system: one just below the handicapped ramp,, one at the top of the ramp and two at street level in the lower parking lot.

When the intercom system is completed, the speakers will be connected to monitors in the police station. Plans call for lights and signs to be installed adjacent to them.

Mobley explained that the city originally intended to have just one speaker near the handicapped ramp so that persons requiring assistance could call inside City Hall. Later, Mobley said, the city decided to add a speaker in the lower parking lot so that someone driving up could summon help without getting out of his car. Eventually four outdoor speakers were planned.

When the police department began talking about closing its 24-hour complaint desk from midnight to 8 a.m. every day, Mobley said the city decided to add an extra monitoring box in the police dispatcher's office.

But unexpected revenues permitted the city to drop some post-Proposition 13 plans for cutbacks. The police department regained six cadets, eight officers and one clerk-typist. With that extra staff, said Sgt. Terry Hannebeck, the department may not have to close its complaint desk at night.

"Whether or not the complaint desk is open will have no effect on the speakers. They're here to stay," Hannebeck commented.

Why do they cost $16,000? Mobley explained that installing them required digging into concrete and pavement.

City Hall insiders admit privately that they're not enthralled with the appearance of the speakers. "They look like something you'd see at a drive-in movie," remarked one official.

When large public meetings are going on at City Hall, city employes also grumble about the plethora of parking spaces reserved for the handicapped. A total of 11 spaces are marked with the familiar wheelchair symbol in the upper parking lot.

Letsinger admits that he's never seen any handicapped persons use the spaces. This reporter spotted a car pulling into one space. Its owner casually got out and strolled toward City Hall with no signs of an infirmity until he realized he was being watched. Then he began limping.

Mobley said, "We will look at the handicapped parking spaces after a period of usage and will increase or decrease them, depending on usage."

Other items the city should look into:

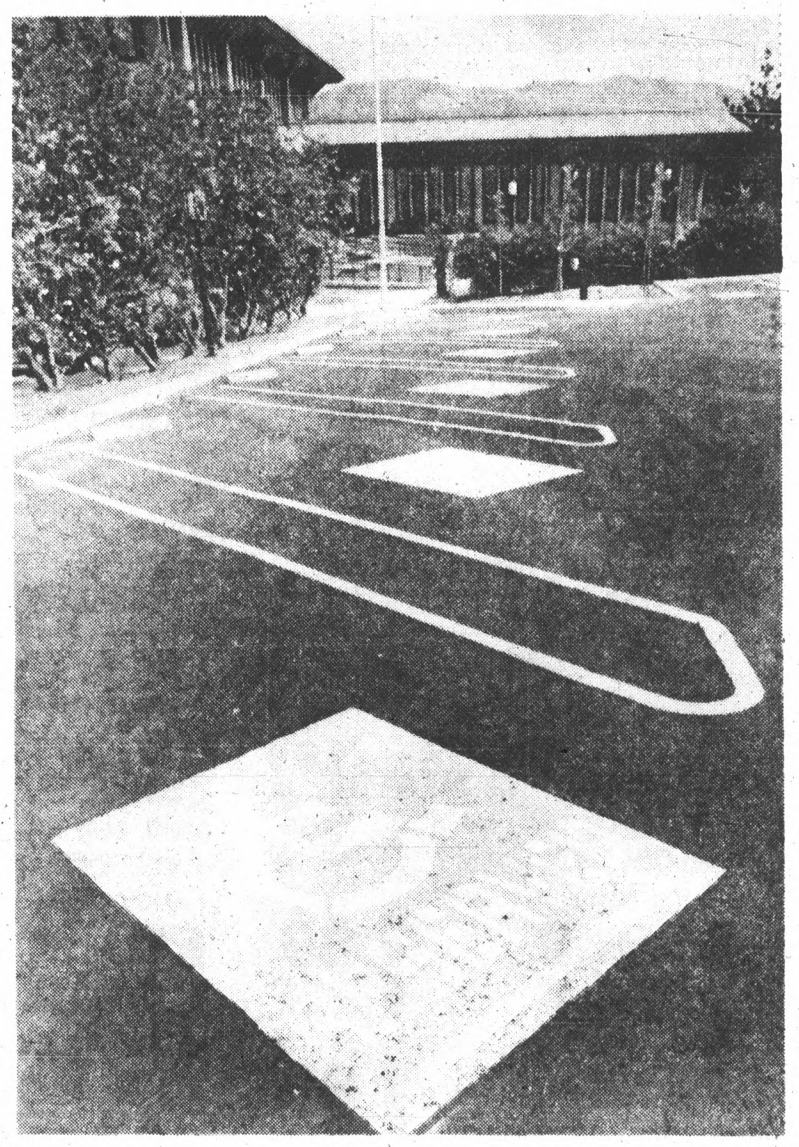
DOORS — The heavy glass doors at the top of the handicapped ramp, which open outward, are difficult for anyone to open and appear impossible for someone seated in a wheelchair to handle. Mobley said a person requiring assistance can request it using the nearby intercom.

SPEAKERS — There doesn't seem to be any good reason why two of those intercoms are located just a few steps apart, both at car window level, in the City Hall's lower parking lot.

PHONES — The phones in City Hall are located too high for persons in wheelchairs to use. Mobley said the city is thinking about lowering one phone.

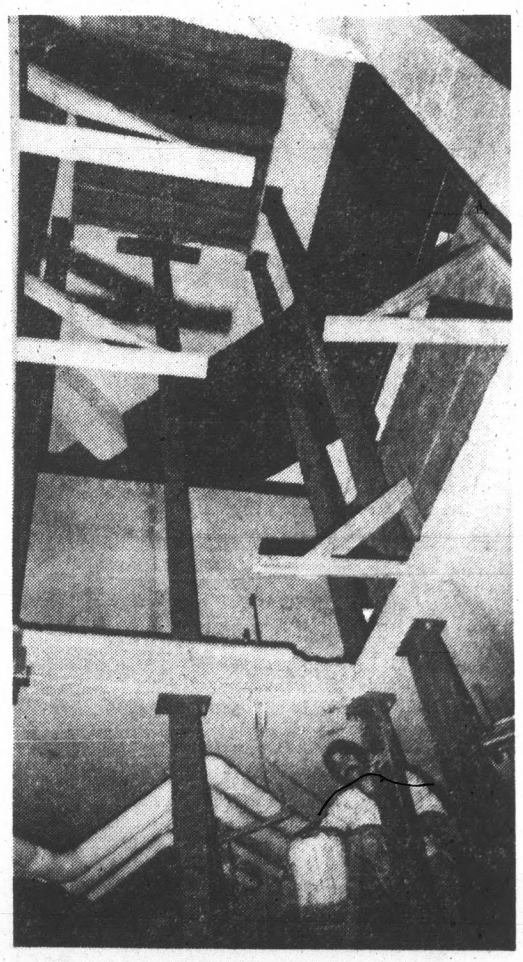
ELEVATOR — In the event of a fire, when the heat-activated elevator might fail, persons in wheelchairs should have another way of escaping from the second floor of City Hall. Asked if there are any plans for such an escape, Mobley replied, "You can't design for every eventuality. Someone up there would have to carry the handicapped out. If I was there, I'd carry the person out on my back."

The obvious question is: What if he's not there?



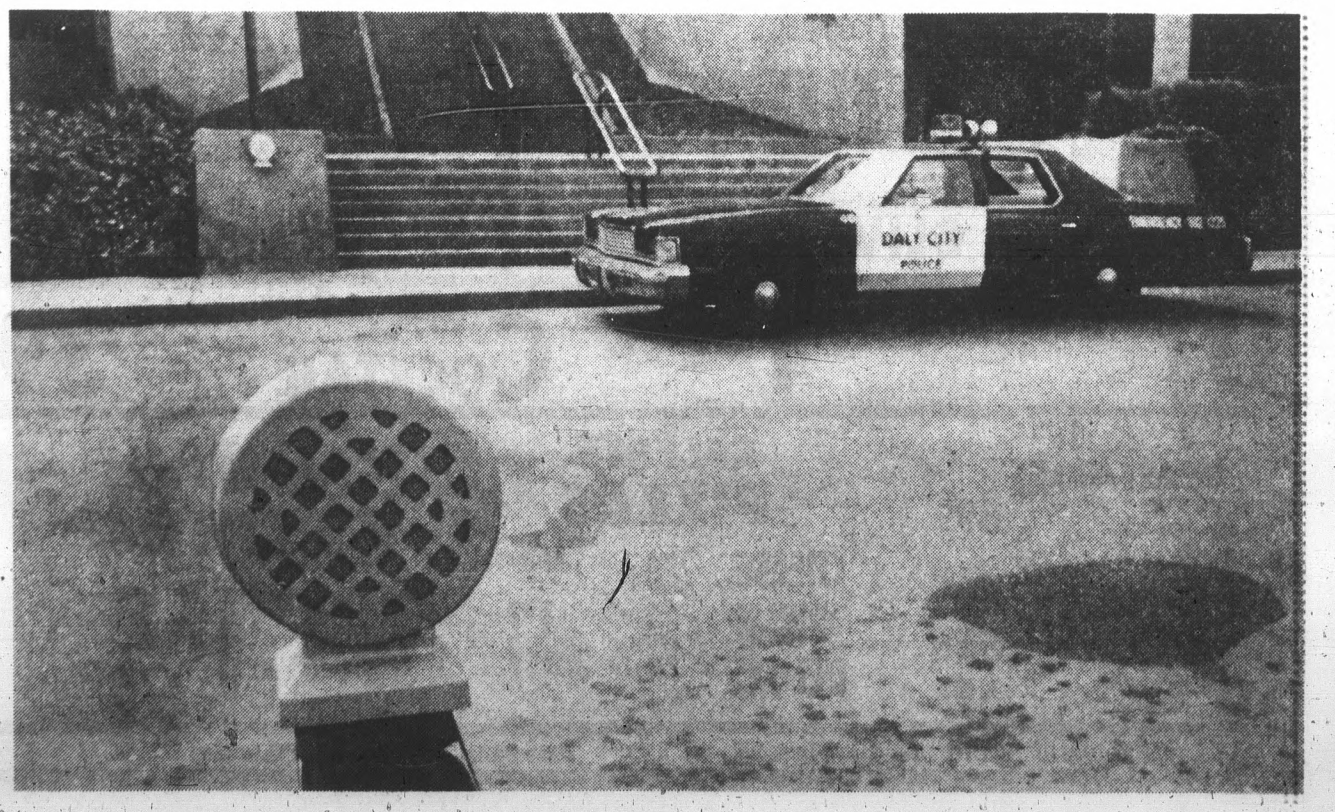
LONELY TERRAIN

Ten of the spaces in Daly City's upper level parking lot at City Hall are reserved for the handicapped, but city employees report that seldom is even one space used. The parking lot cost $103,000 in federal funds.



GETTING A SHAFT

This elevator shaft at Daly City's City Hall will house an elevator that is part of a $340,000 project to make the building more accessible to the handicapped. The elevator is supposed to be done by Christmas.



ONE FOR EACH EAR

Two speakers in the lower parking lot adjacent to Daly City's City Hall are located just a few steps from each other. Their purpose is to provide easier communication with police officers inside the building.

COMMENDED

OFF TO THE RACES

The Westlake Catholic Women will have their annual "Day at the Races" Oct. 18 at Bay Meadows Race Track. The chairwoman for the day will be Mrs. Dario Baciocco, with co-chairwoman Mrs. Frank Lawson (right). Tickets are $10 and include admission to the field and lunch in the Turf Club. They may be purchased by calling Mrs. Baciocco, 755-8249.

Freshmen Take Crack At Basic Skills Test

About 60 percent of the freshmen who took a basic skills test in the San Mateo Union High School District last year have met the graduation requirement for reading.

That news was announced Thursday during a meeting of the district's board of trustees in Burlingame.

However, about half of those freshmen failed to meet the requirements for composing a simple business letter and 73 percent failed a basic mathematics examination.

The test results are the first under the district's program to measure students' basic skills. Students are not expected to pass the battery of tests until their junior year.

But they must eventually pass them in order to graduate.

Freshmen are given the tests as an early warning system so that those who need extra assistance can get it.

The tests are not designed to be particularly difficult. District officials have said that most students will far exceed these minimum standards before they graduate.

In other business Thursday, the trustees:

• Discussed how to approach a method for considering the closing of a district campus sometime in the near future. There was disagreement on how imminent such a shutdown actually is and most of the board members said more specific information is needed before a time-line or citizens committee could be developed. The administration was directed to provide more educational and fiscal parameters.

• Listened to a report from Superintendent Austin Sellery on the vagaries of public school finance in California. According to Sellery, "Since the passage of Proposition 13, school finance is in disarray."

• Heard a report on the status of the adult school's enrollment. The director of that program, Curtis Wilcox, said enrollment has declined in the wake of instituting a modest fee structure because of fiscal constraints caused by Prop. 13.

On the issue of whether to restore some adult classes in local nursing homes, Sellery told the trustees that the district is waiting for a legal opinion from the San Mateo County district attorney before announcing changes. A key problem has been the matter of deciding whether those classes are serving persons designated as handicapped.

• Listened to a progress report on the district's bilingual education program. It was pointed out that the state has implemented a new law which changes certain requirements for bilingual education. The consensus of the board was that it wants to see if the district's latest bilingual efforts will substantially comply with that new law.

Program for 4-Year-Olds

A prekindergarten program for 4-year-old children is being offered at North Shoreview School in San Mateo.

Eligibility is based on an evaluation of the needs of each child. For more information, interested persons can contact the school authorities at 1301 Cypress Ave. in San Mateo.

D.C. Shooter To Compete

Ashleigh Liston of Los Altos and Steve Reiter of Daly City are part of a 57-member team now traveling to Korea to represent the United States in the 42nd World Shooting Championships.

Reiter, 36, will fire in the free and standard events at the championships, which are to be today though Oct. 7 at the Taenung International Shooting Range outside Seoul. He won the place on the team by virtue of a qualifying finish at the 18th U.S. International Championships at Phoenix, Ariz., this summer.

Reservist in Training

Reserve Sgt. 1st Class Beltran B. Mangabay of Daly City recently participated in two weeks of active duty training at the U.S. Army Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Mangabay is employed as a communications and electronics maintenance specialist at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Active Duty

Reserve Sgt. Wayne T. Liebert of Pacifica recently participated in two weeks of active duty training at the U.S. Army Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Saturday is shopping day for all of you book enthusiasts.

The Daly City Friends of the Library will hold their annual Fall Book Fair this Saturday in the Mall of the Westlake Shopping Center and that means bargains galore for all of you "bibliophiles" or "bibliomaniacs." Plan to shop early. The best titles go fast.

* * *

Next week the ever busy members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild will treat themselves to a brief respite before tackling the exhausting task of staging the annual Christmas Boutique in mid-November.

Plans call for a two-day sojourn to Reno with a stay in the Riviera Inn and visits to the new MGM casino and the venerable Nugget on the holiday schedule.

Mrs. Virginia Stanghellini is in charge of the arrangements for this trip. Reservations are no longer available but you may have your name placed on a waiting list if you call immediately.

* * *

Mrs. Ernestine Vetter, publicity chairman for the club, reports that a trip to Reno, as well as a tour of the geysers at Geyserville and a Day at the Races are all on the fall calendar.

The seniors began enjoying the beautiful fall weather last month with a picnic at Huddart Park. Picnic chairman Scotty Humberto was absent from the event because of a bout with the flu but club members applauded his work as planner and organizer of a highly enjoyable afternoon.

* * *

Servart Ojakian, publicity chairman for the Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), reports that next week the club will be meeting on Tuesday because of the Columbus Day holiday which will close the Westlake Community Center on the regular meeting day.

The nominating committee will be presenting the proposed slate of officers for the coming year and a games day program is planned following the closing of the business meeting.

Mrs. Doris Johnson, tour chairman, will be on hand to take reservations for yet another outing to Reno. This one, planned for AARP members only, will be on Nov. 5 and 6. Space is limited so anyone wishing to go is urged to sign up immediately.

* * *

October and Columbus Day always signal the arrival of Italian Night at Our Lady of Mercy Parish.

Mrs. Charles Vanoncini and Fred Molfina are chairing the dinner-dance this year and reservations for "Evening in Venice" are available from Mrs. James Murray.

The party will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 13, with cocktails. Dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m. with dancing to the music of "Gemini" to begin at 9 p.m.

The following week, on Oct. 18, the Westlake Catholic Women will enjoy their annual fall Day at the Races.

Mrs. Dario Baciocco, Mrs. Frank Lawson, Mrs. Bruno Columbini and Mrs. James Murray are sharing the responsibility of planning this trek to Bay Meadows.

Mrs. Baciocco is handling the tickets which cost $10 per person. Ticket holders are admitted to the field, served luncheon in the Turf Club and given a complimentary program.

* * *

Mrs. Louise Enberg, director of Friends Outside, notes that that organization is still engaged in the project to provide clothing and household goods free to families of prisoners and to ex-offenders who are re-establishing themselves in the community.

Persons with items to donate are asked to call the San Francisco office of Friends Outside for pickup service.

Samuel Chandler

In 1932 the people of San Mateo County adopted a charter that governed the county through the eras of the Great Depression, World War II and the Viet Nam conflict. But that charter has grown old and outmoded.

In 1978 the citizens of San Mateo County have an opportunity to adopt a new charter, one that will be free of strictures that were enacted long ago and no longer fit the times.

The charter, proposed as Proposition A on the November ballet, is a document that will provide San Mateo with a government that is in tune with the times and will serve the people of the county during the exciting years that are ahead.

The new charter is free of outmoded provisions and obscure language. It was drawn to present the ground rules of San Mateo County government as clearly and logically as possible. It is organized to be as thorough as necessary and yet free of excessive details. It is a document that satisfies the needs of attorneys and government workers and yet can be read and understood by the citizens of the county.

The proposed charter is the product of the deliberations of a charter review committee that spent hundreds of hours studying the needs of San Mateo County and listening to testimony from concerned individuals and groups. Records show that the committee took testimony from the county manager, the mayors and managers of the various cities and from the administrators of the departments within the governments of the county

Why I think you should vote "No" on D

Our City's Future Needs a Shopping Center at Mariner's Island

My name is Robert Zwierlein.

Some of you know me; some of you don't.

I've lived and worked in San Mateo all my life. My children grew up here, and four of them still live here.

My parents lived here, too, and they built their lives around a downtown department store called Loewe & Zwierlein.

The families still own the building at Third Avenue and B Street, which we lease to W & J Sloane. I pay taxes on that building. And I pay taxes on my home in San Mateo.

I care about the downtown, not just because of family sentiment, but because I'm also a property owner there. I'd be the last person who would want to sell our downtown short.

I say all this because some people in our city are trying to make you and me believe that if a new shopping center is built at Mariner's Island it will destroy the downtown.

That is utter nonsense and the worst kind of scare tactics. In fact, the leaders and main financiers of the opposition to a Mariner's Island shopping center are proposing their own shopping center expansion at Hillsdale Shopping Center. How this fits with their claimed concern about competition for the downtown is a mystery they never talk about.

I don't think a shopping center at Mariner's Island will hurt the downtown. Oh, maybe at first people will try out the new shopping center. But if the downtown merchants are doing the job they are capable of doing, people will return to their stores.

But there are many people in San Mateo who don't shop downtown now. There are many people who shop in Daly City and San Bruno and Burlingame and Redwood City and Palo Alto and other Peninsula cities. These are people who will shop at a Mariner's Island shopping center.

Nobody can really predict where somebody else is going to shop. But nobody should dictate where they're going to shop, either. People should have a choice. That's always been the heart of the American system—choice.

A shopping center at Mariner's Island will give the people of San Mateo greater choice.

And it will give us more. A new shopping center at Mariner's Island will give our city a broader tax base. It will give us more jobs—permanent jobs and part-time jobs for people of all ages.

The tax base is so important to San Mateo. Our police and fire security, our schools, our libraries, our parks, our programs for senior citizens—our decency and stability as a nice community depend on our tax revenues.

Proposition 13 has cut deeply into our city resources. That's the way the majority wanted it, and I was one of them. But just as I believe government has to be more careful with its expenditures, I also believe that government has to maintain essential services.

A shopping center at Mariner's Island will give us the extra tax revenues to provide those services, especially since inflation is almost sure to eat up our revenues more and more. We can't look blandly to Sacramento always to bail us out. We need to look out for ourselves. We need to show local responsibility.

It amazes and angers me that one selfish interest in this city is trying to make the people think that the shopping center at Mariner's Island would not be "responsible growth." And at the same time they would have you believe that expansion of the congestion at Hillsdale Boulevard and El Camino would be "responsible growth."

I don't think the people of San Mateo are going to be fooled. And because I think it's crucial that you aren't fooled, I've agreed to be chairman of the San Mateo "No on D" committee. This is a citizens group, with three City Council members as Honorary Chairmen, and we oppose Proposition D. We don't think the City general plan and the Mariner's Island specific plan—which took many years to study, debate, and reach consensus on—should now be emasculated.

To overthrow these plans would be reckless. To overthrow these plans would be turning our backs on an estimated $800,000 a year in tax revenues, 2,400 new jobs, $24 million in new annual payroll. We would be turning our backs on the opportunity to shop conveniently at major stores of J.C. Penney, Bullock's, Liberty House, and others. And we would be turning our shopping center over to Foster City.

The opponents of a shopping center at Mariner's Island have been hammering at the people of San Mateo for a long time with untruths and half-truths and distortions of fact. Their efforts for the last seven months have been almost ceaseless and take a lot of undoing. But we must undo those efforts if San Mateo is to have a healthy, decent future.

I hope you will think this issue over carefully. I hope you will join our citizens committee. Most of all, for the sake of San Mateo's future, I hope you will vote "NO on D."

BOOK SALE SATURDAY

The Harvest Book Fair of the Friends of the Daly City Library will be Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the Garden Court and environs of the Westlake Shopping Center. A large collection of used books of a wide variety and many classical and modern records will be on sale. Silent auctions of unusual items are scheduled for 10 and 11 a.m. Shown are Denise Schwarzbach, left, and Cecelia Enright check book checking book sales records at former auctions to determine a minimum bid for an 1898 issue of "Plains from the Hills" by Rudyard Kipling and "Selected Letters of William Allen White."

Voter Registration by Mail, Phone Available

Those not yet registered to vote in the Nov. 7 general election may do so without leaving home.

County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church said that his office has installed a 24-hour telephone service. Citizens may call 573-2860, leave their name and address and a voter registration by mail postcard will be mailed to them. The return postage is prepaid.

Oct. 9 is the deadline to register.

Church said his offices in the Hall of Justice in Redwood City and at 40 Tower Road, San Mateo, will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on that last day.

When the history of the National League West pennant race is written, when the perspective of time makes all experts rational, it will be determined that the Giants failed to hold first place not because of their late season collapse, but because of two season-long glaring weaknesses — the defense on the right side of their infield, and the let-down of their relief pitching. And maybe they really needed a center fielder all along, too.

The infield problems shouldn't be taken as in indictment of Willie McCovey and Bill Madlock, because it isn't McCovey's fault that he's getting baseball old, nor is it Madlock's fault that he's not a second baseman. But these facts remain. McCovey couldn't handle even simple ground balls at times, nor infield throws that he used to gobble up. Ironically, he caused many problems too often by ranging too far to his right on grounders, trying to compensate for Madlock's lack of range.

AS A consequence, if McCovey didn't boot the ball, he'd end up with it and nobody to throw it to. Also ironic, Madlock's range problem was in going to his right, not his left.

Madlock also had terrible problems with pop flies hit directly over his head, and often didn't get to the bag quick enough on double plays. Though he has good hands and certainly a more than adequate arm for second base, he seemed too often distracted by runners classing near him and would take his eye off the ball and it would bound by him or go through him. He seemed occasionally to hurry his throws unnecessarily.

In short, he had to do too much thinking at second base, whereas as a third baseman, it was all bang-bang, you do or you don't react, don't think.

WHAT WAS so ironic about the situation of Madlock's being switched to second, is that if it didn't happen, if the Giants didn't have Darrel Evans' great glove and dangerous bat in the lineup on a steady basis, the Giants wouldn't have been better off than they ended up, anyway.

The only solution seems to lie in disposing of one of their third basemen, and that seems to be a matter that will take care of itself, since it looks as if Evans will be testing the free agent market.

It seems inevitable, then, that the Giants will have to give up some pitching to get a first-class second baseman. If he can hit, that would be wonderful, but their first priority now is acquire one who can play defense. If they don't get a hitting second baseman (oh, wouldn't Joe Morgan be nice?), then they're going to have to get a big bat to compensate in the outfield, which would seem to eliminate Larry Herndon, who doesn't seem as if he's ever going to get the knack.

SINCE power-hitting center fielders are what they call superstars nowadays, it doesn't seem likely that the Giants are going to be able to trade for one of those, so the most reasonable alternative would seem to be to move Jack Clark over. Clark has the speed, the arm and the natural ability to be able to play in center field more than adequately, and it also might take some of the pressure off, because center field is easier to play than right field if a player has the natural talent.

Clark looked reasonably good when he played there the last couple of weeks of 1976. With clark switched to center, the Giants might be able to swing a deal for a less talented but power hitting right fielder.

As for the giants' bullpen, it had a good reputation going in, and showed flashes of brilliance, but if anything in baseball must be consistent, if has to be relief pitching, and the giants didn't have it.

RANDY MOFFITT never has been consistent, primarily because he can't get lefthanded batters out unless he gets lucky. So until he comes up with another pitch for the southpaws, he can't be considered a big plus.

If Gary Lavelle had even been close to as effective as he was last year, the Giants still would have been in the chase at the wire. Check statistics of rival pens in the NL. You'll find the Giants' relief hurlers have some of the highest ERAs. I haven't seen final stats as yet, but I believe that Giants' starting pitchers had the lowest aggregate ERA among other NL starters.

Another factor which did the Giants in this season was their inability to beat teams in their own division, particularly the Reds and the Dodgers. Another irony there, because in those other, struggling seasons, the Giants were almost always able to hold their own against L.A. and Cincy.

IRONY piled upon irony this season. Maury Wills was hired to improve giants' baserunning and stealing, and they stole fewer bases than they have in years, and generally ran the bases like headless horsemen.

But this wasn't meant to be a negative column: Look at the plusses. I said at the beginning of the season that "The Giants will be sitting . . . pretty . . . if they can manage . . . a third place finish (draw 1-1.2 million) and look good doing it."

Think about it. They were actually, for 75 percent of the season, the most consistent team in baseball with a roster that didn't measure up in pure talent to half the teams in the game.

Even the "collapse" (which may just have been a seeking of the proper level) can be looked upon as a plus for such a young team. Now they know what it takes to win all year. Now they know that next year they won't be able to stand around sucking their thumb, waiting for the Dodgers to lose it, and/or for opponents to give them games.

RANDOM BASEBALL COMMENTS:

And speaking of the Reds, on April 12, I said about them, "It . . . is a team that is putting some years on, and added years mean added susceptibility to injuries. And the Reds simply don't have the bench they had a couple of years ago, because they've depleted it trading for pitching which has never quite panned out . . .

"Thus, the Giants have to worry more about the Dodgers . . ."

HAVE YOU noted what a year it was for shortstops? Whether they were established ones continuing to be good, youngsters breaking in or suddenly blossoming or oldsters making comebacks, few teams were without outstanding shortstops this season, particularly in the American League.

Take a look: Mark Belanger (Baltimore), Rick Burleson (Boston), Dave Chalk (Angels), Don Kessenger (White Sox), Tom Veryzer (Cleveland), Alan Trammell (Detroit), Freddie Patek (KC), Robin Yount (Milwaukee), Bucky Dent (Yankees), Mario Guerrero (A's), Roy Smalley (Minnesota), Craig Reynolds (Seattle), Ivan DeJesus (Cubs), Davie Concepcion (Reds), Bill Russell (Dodgers) Chris Speier (Montreal), Larry Bowa (Phils), Frank Taveras (Pittsburgh), Gary Templeton (Cards), Ozzie Smith (Padres) and Roger Metzger of the Giants.

Sudden thought: Why not develop a new stat — offensive errors. That would account for things like getting picked off base, not scoring from second on a single, screwing up a bunt, and like that.

LOCAL NOTE: Rich Motylweski, formerly of Terra Nova High, continues to be the best defensive lineman San Francisco State has had for the past several years. The 6-3, 225-pound senior tackle seems to be grabbing what few headlines the Gators are getting these days.

Tigers Come Out Smokin'

North Peninsula League title contender Terra Nova opened its season with a rush Friday night, answering all those who had wondered whether the Tigers would be able to play after enforced inactivity during the recent teachers' strike.

The answer was yes — though the Tigers had had to sit by for the last two weeks while nearly every other team in the County was getting much-needed action.

When the Tigers finally got on the field they were unstoppable for a while, rushing past visiting Burlingame to an early 15-0 lead — then hanging on in the final three quarters for a 15-14 win.

The first quarter belonged to Terra Nova, and the rest of the game Burlingame (now 1-2 in non-league play) clawed back, coming very close to success.

Terra Nova looked well-organized (the Tigers were whistled for only six penalties, the same number committed by Burlingame), and quarterback Joe Belli couldn't have looked any sharper in the opening period. Belli completed his first nine passes for a total of 124 yards, and didn't throw an incompletion until 9:25 remained in the second quarter.

Satisfied with its passing attack, Terra Nova concentrated on its ground game in the second half, throwing only once. The Tigers, possibly not as well-conditioned as the Panthers, didn't enjoy nearly as much success with their running game. Burlingame played aggressive, hard-hitting defense and may have worn the Tigers down somewhat as the second half progressed.

Trailing 15-0, Burlingame had its back against the wall when TN drove deep into Panther territory late in the third period. But Burlingame defensive back Jon Bussani intercepted a Belli pass on the goal line and returned it to the 10.

Given new life, Burlingame marched 90 yards to paydirt, grinding out tough yardage, most of it straight ahead. Bill Errico did some good, hard running for the Panthers, with halfback Dan Jackson occasionally carrying outside to keep TN's defense honest. The Panthers finally got on the scoreboard when quarterback Perry Falk powered across on a one-yard sneak on the first play of the fourth quarter.

Burlingame trimmed TN's lead to 15-8 when Jackson (a southpaw) ran to his left on the Panthers' two-point conversion attempt, stopped and hit wide receiver Tim Hackett with a pass in the left side of the end zone.

Terra Nova then embarked on a grinding, time-consuming drive, but finally had to try a 27-yard field goal. It missed, and Burlingame regained possession with 2:50 remaining.

The Panthers had connected on only three of 10 passes, with two of Falk's aerials being picked off, but Burlingame came up with the big play. Falk found Mark Alioto with a medium-deep pass over the middle. Alioto made the catch, broke a tackle as he was cutting across toward the right sideline and raced into the end zone for a stunning 68-yard touchdown with 1:25 left. That cut TN's lead to a single point.

But Burlingame tried to hit the Tigers with the same conversion play that had worked before. This time TN was ready. Falk got the ball to the speedy Jackson, who sped to his left and looked for a receiver in the left side of the end zone. But no one was open, and Jackson had no choice but to turn on a burst of speed and try to turn the corner; he was belted hard by at least two defenders at the two, however, and couldn't quite power his way across.

Fights Mar Ram Triumph

The most intense action to be seen was in between plays as visiting Westmoor High toppled Crestmoor 26-0 in a non-league football clash Friday.

The 90-degree heat seemed to be too much for both squads to withstand. Tempers flared with every play. After a series of cheap shots, player ejections and a near free-for-all brawl, the referees ended the contest with nearly two minutes remaining.

Due to an abundance of penalties and a shortage of clean football, neither squad had much momentum. The Falcons, having nearly as much trouble with the referees as they did with the stingy Ram defense, were issued nearly 100 yards in penalties. Westmoor was also flagged heavily, especially in key situations. Many Ram drives were halted by holding or clipping calls.

One of the game's positive notes was the play of Ram Quarterback Tony Limatau. Playing little more than half the game, he riddled the Crestmoor defense for 123 yards passing (7-for-13, with two TDs).

On Westmoor's second possession of the contest, the 6-1 Limatau hit tight end Steve Botta with a perfectly timed aerial between three defenders for an 18-yard score. Later in the half, from the Falcons' 45-yard line, he found speedy Ken Baptista all alone at the 20, and Baptista went the rest of the way untouched.

Crestmoor was held to 12 yards and suffered five interceptions.

"I think when you really evaluate the game, you will find that we just beat ourselves with so many mental mistakes. They only had about two really good drives, and the rest of their scoring came from breaks on our errors," said Falcon coach Ernie Baber.

SSF Methodical Win Over Cap

South San Francisco High's football team didn't play all that well Friday night against Capuchino, but the Warriors took advantage of everything they could.

The result was a methodical 27-6 win over the game Mustangs at Burlingame Field. The win ups South City's non-league mark to 2-1. Cap drops to 0-2-1.

Capuchino shocked the heavily favored Warriors by scoring first. The Mustangs marched 65 yards in nine plays, with halfback Rod Brown scoring around right end for a 6-0 Mustang lead in the second quarter.

That incensed the Warriors, who stormed 70 yards in only seven plays for Carl Montgomery's one-yard TD.

However Capuchino fumbled the ensuing kickoff back to SSF on the Mustang 36. Mike Brown scored the go-ahead touchdown eight plays later over right tackle. The two-point conversion gave SSF a 14-6 lead at halftime.

South City led at halftime despite being outgained 151-92 by the Mustangs. Cap quarterback Jeff Monteroso had passed for 107 yards in the half.

After SSF was unable to move with the second half kickoff, the Warriors punted deep into Cap territory. The Mustangs took over on their own 12. A third-down sack by SSF put the ball on the Cap two.

Forcing a hurried short punt, SSF took over on the Capuchino 22. The Warriors iced it with Brown scoring on fourth down from a yard out with 3:24 left in the period.

SSF added th final score midway through the final period when quarterback Tom Esqueda found Ron Hawkins on a slant-in, and when the Cap defender fell down, Hawkins was off to the races.

Montgomery was the leading rusher for SSF with 51 yards on 10 totes. Cap got 53 yards rushing on 15 carries from Rod Brown. Monteroso threw for 160 yards on 12 of 24. Flanker Jay Boragho caught seven for 92 yards. SSF only outgained Cap 232-206.

Mills Persists, Tops Irish

SAN FRANCISCO — Mills High's football team threw a total of three passes in the first half of its non-league game against host Sacred Heart at Kezar Stadium Friday, completing one for four yards. Early in the fourth quarter, with Sacred Heart leading 14-6, the Vikings had thrown 10 passes and completed just the one for four yards.

Out of necessity, however, Mills kept putting the ball in the air in the closing minutes, and the Vikings' persistence finally began paying off. Mills — which had completed one of 10 aerials in a 22-0 loss to San Carlos last week — completed nine of 15 passes down the stretch and rallied to defeat the Irish 18-14.

Perhaps the biggest play of the game came early in the final quarter. On fourth down and 12 at the Irish 32-yard line, Viking quarterback Dave Rebata (whose passing stats would have been impressive had his receivers not dropped four balls that should have been caught) found running back Steve Bacciocco for a 27-yard gain over the middle. That gave the Vikes a first-and-goal at the SH five, and fullback Steve Cox scored on a one-yard blast on the next play. Cox was stopped at the one on Mills' two-point conversion try, but the Vikes had gained the momentum.

After forcing the Irish to punt, Mills started driving again

Rec Class In Fencing

The Burlingame Rec Dept. will sponsor an eight-week course in fencing, with the first class being held Thursday, 7:30-9:30 p.m., at Lincoln School Auditorium.

Gregory Bigot — a member of the Amateur Fencers League of American — will teach the class.

SM Survives Rally

Things came a little too easy for San Mateo High's football team in the heat against visiting Jefferson Friday.

The Bearcats blew to a 21-3 lead with 2:51 left in the first half. It looked like a rout. But the visiting Indians made a game of it before succumbing to fourth-period pressure by San Mateo.

San Mateo improved its non-league record to a perfect 3-0 with the 27-16 win over the pesky Indians. SM opens Mid-Peninsula League play Friday night against dangerous Mills. Jeff is now 1-2 and faces Serramonte in a North Peninsula League opener Friday.

"He was certainly the difference," said SM assistant coach Frank Davis when informed his fullback, Seta Pohahau, had rushed for 213 yards.

Time and again the powerful-but-quick Pohahau was a thorn in Jeff's side, especially in the first half, when he rolled up 152 yards.

He had three brilliant runs in the first half. On the first he bounced off at least five Indians and somehow managed to keep his balance for 21 yards.

After the Jeff punter had dropped a snap and was nailed for a loss on the Jeff 32, Pohahau went to work again. He burst through the line, carrying at one time or another five Indians on his back 29 yards to the three. He knocked one defender off his back before finally being dragged down by three others.

He scored the TD two plays later to make it 14-3 San Mateo. The Bearcat defense held Jeff and forced a punt.

On the first place Pohahau burst through right tackle and cut back against the grain, going untouched 74 yards for a TD. He outran the entire Jeff defensive backfield, two of whom had the angle on him.

Just before halftime, the Indians moved from their own 32 to the Bearcat one, but were nearly out of time. There was only 0:01 left in the half when fullback Richard Rodgers barged in for the TD.

That score gave Jefferson an emotional lift which the Indians used to get back into the game in the second half.

The Indians were able to get back into the game because of the passing of fullback Rodgers, on pitchouts. Time and again he hurt SM with his passing and running. He had a key 41-yard run and completed four of eight passes, keeping the Bearcat secondary off-balance.

Rodgers' second TD with 5:21 left in the third period made it 21-16. SM was unable to move in for a score and Jeff took over on downs on its own 31.

Again the Indians were moving, but then came the play of the game. Rodgers was hurting SM on the fullback passes, with a lot of running room and wide-open receivers.

But this time middle linebacker Sheldon Proctor came up to spill Rodgers for an eight-yard loss on third down on the SM 46. The fourth-down play came up short and SM took over.

The Bearcats then moved in for the clinching score. SM went 64 yards in nine rushing plays, with Pohahau scoring his third TD with 8:20 left to play.

That took all of the wind out of the Indians' sails. they were starting to wilt in the 92-degree heat.

"We were a little flat today, possibly looking ahead to Mills," said SM head coach Buz Williams. "Our kids were getting a little fat-headed. They didn't think Jefferson would score late in the first half. But obviously Jeff hadn't read our press clippings."

Paced by Pohahau's 213 yards and halfback Adam Haysbert's 66 on 10 carries, SM had 326 yards rushing and 359 total. The Bearcat defense gave up 300 yards to Jefferson, 161 through the air.

SQUEEZE PLAY

One of the reasons Hillsdale upset Serra Friday was the Knights' ability to stop the Padres' highly-touted running game. Putting the stop on Serra scatback Eric Redwood (43) are Hillsdale middle linebacker Dave Cook (60) and defensive end/linebacker Todd Welch (24). Another key player in the surprise win was quarterback/linebacker Mike Matisi, who took a rare timeout to quench his thirst as the temperature rose to the mid-90's during the contest. Hillsdale scored late in the fourth quarter to beat Serra for the first time in 13 years, 7-6.

A Quiet Napa Course

Golf course explorer

By Hal Gevertz

I took a trip one early morning to play a golf course in the heart of the Napa Valley grape country. It was easy finding the Charles Krug, Beringer, Christian Brothers and other notable wineries that dot this table wine center of the world. But locating the Meadowood golf course in St. Helena wasn't that effortless. I got lost even with a map and an idea of its locale. Instead, I found some side roads, mountain trails and small communities I didn't know existed.

The beautiful country in the backwoods off the Silverado Trail highway is certainly worth a ride and exploration some day to see this ageless country. I finally observed a sign off Howell Mountain Road that said "Meadowood Lane." Since it sounded familiar, I gave it a try and drove down a restricted road. I went past tennis courts and a swimming pool. I felt that I was getting warm. I proceeded to drive further and lo and behold, there was a small sign posted on a tree that said "Golf Course." With a sigh of relief, I parked my car in a tree-sheltered parking lot and walked up to the crest of a small hill.

I FOUND the Meadowood course that was built in 1965. Before my tired eyes was this enchanting mini, 2,112-yard meadowland golf course with a complement of four par fours and five par threes. It was completely infiltrated with numerous firs, ponderosa pines, white oaks and madrone trees and lanes of grass fairway trying to find room through all of it.

Not a golfer was seen on this former Christmas tree producing land, but there were three gardeners applying their knowledge to fixing a green, but which was lost because their water system had temporary shutdown problems.

I felt cheated! Driving 80 miles to play a course that lost its grass-growing liquid. But the inferior shape of the course was more than offset by the truly adventurous holes that were set up to compensate for its size.

I FOUND out quickly when I walked to the 340 yard par 4 first tee. The drive has to slice around a high fence of trees and try to land on a side of a hillside fairway that slopes sharply down into the meadow. With a border of inaccessible fir trees on the top of this bowl-like course, a straight hit off the tee into this forest will turn it into instant lost ball land.

After that opening drive I could expect anything at "Wildwood" — I mean Meadowood — and I found some good ones. There is the 173-yard pencil-wide, par 3 fifth and from the shoddy tee I saw a corridor of imposing trees looming straight ahead, cutting the view to the green to about 18 yards of freedom. I put four balls into the pine needle and bark-strewed jail on the left, trying all kinds of swings.

I was fortunate to have found three balls that weren't mine, so you can believe that often-visited rough gets plenty of cussing company.

THE PAR 3 third hole of 170 yards has a border of long-leaf lovelies that will accept only over-the-tree play unless one can negotiate a 25-yard wide fairway to gain admission to the green. The 165-yard one-shot fourth has two thick and healthy branched pines on the left, blocking the view from the green. The tee shot has to clear these trees to gain entrance as a large trip on the right corner of the green will take care of inaccurate play.

Meadowood has a handful of greenside sand traps. One of them behind the par 3 fifth is so tiny that a player will have better success standing out of it to get better footing on the recovery effort. I noticed more deer feet in the bunkers than spiked shoe marks so maybe there are more deer-members using the facilities.

The small nondescript raised greens that weren't damaged by the waterless period at Meadowood fit in nicely with the size of the course. They were of consistent putting substance with subtle breaks on holes closer to the hillside surrounding the course.

THE LONGEST hole of 376 yards, the ninth, also has the largest green. It is a two-tiered model with two traps in the rear and one in the front. To the right of this good finishing hole is an attractive two-story circular clubhouse, nestled in a cluster of pine and fir trees.

The clubhouse is the center of activity for this private golf and racquet club, serving food certain days of the week. There are also certain days of the week when I suppose there are people playing golf and a hired professional golfer or someone around to give out a little information about the course. The Tuesday morning I played wasn't one of them.

San Bruno's Enrollment

Overall enrollment in the San Bruno Park School District at the end of the first week of classes was 2,698 pupils, only eight less than the district's official projection of 2,706.

According to Superintendent William K. Jennings, enrollment on opening day, Sept. 12, was 2,669. Last year's October enrollment was 2,892.

The San Bruno elementary district, recognizing that enrollment was declining, closed Engvall Intermediate School this year.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms for bidding this project can only be obtained at the office of the Chief Engineer, Transportation Building, Sacramento, California, and may be seen at the offices of the Chief Engineer at Sacramento, and the District Directors of Transportation at Los Angeles, San Francisco, and the district in which the work is situated.

The successful bidder shall furnish a payment bond and a performance bond.

The Department of Transportation hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in consideration for an award.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor are set forth in the special provisions. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by the State for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done has been determined and the Department has listed these wage rates in the Department of Transportation publication entitled General Prevailing Wage Rates, dated September, 1978.

Dated September 11, 1978.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Having the little darlings back to school surely does put a strain and drain on the cookie jar, doesn't it? Besides those daily lunches to fix, there comes the time when everyone arrives home with a hungry feeling and nothing tastes so good as cookies and milk.

I have just the recipe to fill the cookie jar. Not only does it make a very large amount of cookies, as you can see from the quantities in the list of ingredients, but it has the added attraction of allowing you to make a variety from one basic dough. Not bad, eh?

CAN-DO COOKIES

2 eggs
2/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup margarine or butter, softened
1½ cups sugar
3½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla

Heat oven to 375 degrees.

Beat the two eggs slightly in large mixer bowl. Add the two-thirds cup each shortening and butter, the one and one-half cups sugar. Cream. Sift together the three and one-half cups flour with the two teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Add to creamed mixture. Mix well and blend in one teaspoon vanilla.

The dough should hold together. (If it doesn't, add 1 to 2 tablespoons cream.) Form the dough into a ball with hands. Cut into 2 equal parts. Prepare any of the 2 following cookies.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE COOKIES

½ "Can-Do" cookie dough
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
1 package (6 oz.) semisweet chocolate pieces
¼ cup water
¼ cup sugar

Combine the cookie dough, 2 squares melted and cooled chocolate, chocolate pieces, one-fourth cup each water and sugar. Mix well. Drop by heaping teaspoonsful onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake 12 minutes in 375-degree oven. Makes 4 dozens.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

½ "Can-Do" cookie dough
2/3 cup peanut butter

Mix the cookie dough and the two-thirds cup peanut butter thoroughly. Mold dough into 1-inch balls. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Flatten with a fork. Bake about 12 minutes, or until set, not hard. Makes 3 dozens.

CINNAMON BALLS

½ "Can-Do" cookie dough
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1/3 cup finely chopped pecans

Combine the two tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cinnamon and one-third cup finely chopped pecans. Mold the "Can-Do" dough into 1-inch balls and roll in cinnamon-nut mixture. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Truck Routes to Quarry Left Open

Pleas for rerouting trucks from the Brisbane Quarry were turned down Wednesday by the San Mateo County Planning Commission.

Several Brisbane city officials and residents complained that noisy, dusty trucks traveling through the city's main streets are making life unbearable.

Deputy District Attorney Michael McCracken advised planners that a solution of the route problem would have to await development of the Crocker Industrial Park because a proposed new truck route would require condemnation of privately owned roads through the park.

Several commissioners suggested that Brisbane officials take more direct responsibility for policing their own streets.

Curt Bottoms, quarry manager, told the commissioners that he hadn't been advised of complaints this year.

Bottoms blamed most of the problems on speeding trucks outside the quarry's control.

Officials and residents also complained about an alleged lack of dust control.

Bottoms said a clean-up along city streets traveled by quarry trucks is done daily, but officials claimed otherwise.

Committee Plans EMP Hearings

Two daylong state legislative committee hearings into the possible economic consequences of the controversial Bay Area Environmental Management Plan will be held next week.

The Joint Committee on the State's Economy announced the hearings concerning the $4.3 million plan prepared by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

"We're attempting to get some understanding of what the economic and social impact is going to be and if there is any action the Legislature should be taking to mitigate some of the problems," the committee's consultant, Don Woodside, said.

Leaders of Bay Area business and industry lined up in June before a House subcommittee on environment, energy and natural resources and predicted doom for local economy if the EMP is eventually implemented.

The congressional subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Leo. J. Ryan, D-San Mateo County, held its own hearings in San Francisco.

Ryan at the time expressed concern about the dismal economic projection. However, the ABAG General Assembly representing some 90 cities and counties had already adopted the plan and passed it along to state agencies for approval.

The proposed plan — which aims to clean up the Bay Area's air and water over the next 20 years — must be submitted to the federal Environmental Protection Agency by Jan. 1.

A WINNER EVERY WEEK!

CONTEST RULES

1. Select the winner of each game by placing an "X" in the box on the margin side of the team you think will win. If you predict that the game will end in a tie, place an "X" only in the column headed "Ties" between the two teams. If the game ends in a tie, credit will be given only to contestants who predict the tie.

2. Write the total net yards rushing and passing that you think the designated team will make in the box provided. This estimate will be used only in case of ties between two or more contestants.

3. Clip and mail the entry blank to

FOOTBALL CONTEST
San Mateo Times
P.O. Box 5400
San Mateo, Calif. 94402

4. Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or delivered to The Times prior to 5:30 p.m. Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed or which fail to reach The Times by 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.

5. A $25 cash prize will be awarded to the best entry submitted each week. An additional $25 will be awarded if the best entry is submitted by a Times subscriber or the entrant indicates immediate home delivery of The Times is wanted. In the event a winner cannot be determined by use of a tie-breaker, the prize money will be divided equally among the eligible contestants who tied for the week's best entry. Check the appropriate box at the bottom of the entry form to become eligible for the additional $25.

6. A $100 cash prize bonus will be awarded to a Times subscriber or entrant who indicates immediate home delivery of The Times is wanted, who selects all 15 games correctly. In the event two or more entrants select all 15 games correctly, the tie-breaker will not be used. Instead, the $100 cash prize bonus will be divided among all of the eligible entrants who selected all 15 games correctly. Check the appropriate box at the bottom of the entry form to become eligible for the $100 cash prize bonus.

7. Cash prizes will be payable only to the contestant identified on the entry blank. Winning contestants will be required to show identification.

8. Number of entries from one household is limited to three (3) including only one (1) facsimile of the official entry blank permitted per household. Submission of more than three entries or one facsimile will render all facsimiles submitted by that contestant void.

9. Entries may be attached to a postcard, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the San Mateo, Redwood City or South San Francisco office of Amphlett Printing Company's publications — The Times, The Post, San Bruno Herald, Recorder-Progress, The Coastside Chronicle and the Daily City Herald.

10. Anyone may enter the contest except employees of The Times and their immediate families.

11. The decision of the judges is final. All contestants agree to abide by the judges' decisions. All entries become the property of The Times; no answers may be returned. The Times reserves the right to correct any typographical errors in the entry blank which affect the outcome of the contest. Answers to the contest or winners' name will NOT be given out over the phone. Winners will be notified by The Times.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS

Between them they won 21 of 22 games during the 1977 regular season, but both were soundly trounced in post-season bowl contests last January. Not surprisingly both are back as national football powers — as they are every year. However, regardless of where the two rank nationally, this is always one of the games of the year. Who else but Oklahoma-Texas. The Longhorns, on their way to the regular season national championship last fall, beat the Sooners, 13-6. In fact, Texas has beaten Oklahoma 43 times in their 72 meetings. There have been three ties. Neither team had a breeze last week as both were involved in tough conference battles, Texas with Texas Tech, Oklahoma with Missouri. To pick a winner in this inter-conference classic each year is a real challenge, but we'll go with Oklahoma. The power quotients, which can usually be scrapped in a rivalry like this one, show the spread to be 13 points.

The Nittany Lions of Penn State, in a rare night appearance, meet the Wildcats of Kentucky in Lexington Saturday night. Penn State is still undefeated while Kentuck suffered its first defeat of the season last week and its first loss since being upset by Baylor in the second game of the 1977 season. Kentucky, definitely not the power it was last year, tied South Carolina in its first outing this fall and barely edged Baylor in game No. 2. Last week, the Wildcats were done in by Maryland, 20-3. Penn State, on the other hand, notched its fifth straight win of the season against T.C.U., and will be favored to win its 6th this week. Kentucky is a 13-point underdog.

We'll get the first indication this week of just how Stanford fits into the Pac 10 title picture — as well as U.C.L.A. The Bruins meet the Cardinals who were nudged by just six points in their opener with Oklahoma. In a real close contest, U.C.L.A. will edge Stanford by a point.

Michigan hosts Arizona, and the Wolverines are favored big — by 33 points. In the big one in the Southwest Conference, Texas A & M entertains Texas Tech. The winner: A & M by fourteen.

Celebrities Disco Dance at Lehr's

There's always someone famous on the dance floor at LEHR'S CABARET DISCO, San Francisco's newest "in" dance spot. Seen learning the latest disco dance steps from the award-winning dance team of Sugar 'n'Spice the other night (separate parties) were Jay Key, vice president of Coca Cola, and Sabi Shabta, top Israeli government official.....Half the fun of dining at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, in the heart of San Francisco's Geary Street "Theater Row," is recognizing all of the living legends enjoying luncheon, dinner or Sunday brunch here. Mike Mazurki, the wrestling-great-turned-movie-star, stopped by for dinner the other night and signed autographs for admiring fans between bites of prime rib.....''Fresh'' is the key word at FRESH OUT FISH Seafood Market and Grill, located on South Blvd., San Mateo. The Luncheon Grill, now open from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, features Charcoal broiled fresh fish, seafood, sandwiches, seafood salads and fresh fish chowder, plus beer and wine to eat here or to take home.....Banquet rooms for private parties and business groups are available at JOVANELO'S restaurant, located near San Francisco's Financial District. Co-owner and chef JOE PICCININI is in charge of the kitchen activities.

Mexican Appetizers Pre-Dinner Treat

The menu at LA PINATA includes an impressive array of Mexican dishes, combinations, and one-item favorites. Pre-dinner cocktails and exotic house specialties served in the cocktail lounge are often enjoyed with Mexican appetizers, such as guacamole, nachos, quesadillas and taquitos.....It's Oktoberfest time.. Every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night through October TILLIE'S 'LIL' FRANKFURT in Moss Beach will celebrate the traditional occasion by serving a festive German dinner, which includes a choice of Knockworst, Bratworst or Polish sausage and German beer for $4.50.....NINA LICATA, the matriarch of the hard-working Licata clan, spends countless hours every week overseeing, along with son TONY and daughter ROSALIND, the many details required in operating VINCE'S Italian and Seafood restaurant. Nina is not only a keen businesswoman, but she is also very concerned with the dining needs and comments of every customer.....If you're out for a romantic evening celebrating an anniversary, engagement or a birthday occasion, head for Pacifica's scenic Rockaway Beach, where NICK GUST and his family have created a trio of restaurants, NICK'S, THE MOONRAKER and CAPTAIN CHARLES, for any festive evening of dining and dancing.

French Restaurant Begins 14th Year

As of Sept. 28, L'AUBERGE French restaurant started its 14th year in business. The recipient of many local, state, and national awards, this Redwood City restaurant, owned by LOUIS FRUTSCHI these many successful years, has never deviated from its high standards.....K.C. LO has introduced a new program at his GOLDEN DOOR restaurant in downtown San Mateo. A Chinese lunch special for $1.50 is featured Tuesdays through Fridays from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The restaurant is now closed Mondays all day.....ROMANO'S in Rockaway Beach is the epitome of the friendly, family-owned Italian and Seafood restaurant. With Romano's it's not a "neighborhood" reputation, but one that has spread throughout San Mateo County.....The new menu at BEARDSLEY'S includes more selections for children — and even at lower prices. The child's plate ($3.95) offers a choice of fried chicken, hamburger, fish or prime rib. And that includes potato, beverage and dessert.....TEEN ANGEL returns to BAYHILL LOUNGE Monday night. LEE JAMES, the pop disc jockey, plays his collection of "oldies but goodies" music of the '50s and '60s from 8 to 10 p.m. Then from 10 p.m. to midnight he starts the "Party Machine" and plays current disco sounds.

Bountiful Buffet Reasonably Priced

"They now figure that the average college student goes through 265 books in four years," quips NORMAN LARSON at the KING'S TABLE. "260 are text and the rest are bank." If getting the kids ready for school has shot holes in your budget, the King's Table is for you. Their bountiful buffet is just $2.45 for lunch, $3.65 for dinner and $2.95 for the Sunday Champagne Brunch. Eat all you like of salads and flavorful hot dishes. Even soup and luscious dessert are included in the low price.....Seen dining at JIM SNIADECKI'S SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S the other evening was the popular group HOTSHOT, who happen to be personal friends of Bartender Ronda Mower. Although it was the night off of MIKE GUZMAN, who entertains at the pianobar of this award-winning Redwood City restaurant, he dropped by to rap with the group.....PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower, famed for its superb Pay-By-Ounce steaks, is also the home of some of the Bay Area's most delicious seafood. Try Phil's Salmon en Croute.....The oh-so-good dessert features at ED and CHARLENE ENGORAN'S PALM GRILL restaurant in Burlingame are homemade. The Marble Cream Cheese Pie is a super rich cream cheese cake swirled with dark sweet chocolate.

King's Celebrates First Anniversary

TONY and MARGARET FONG invite you to help them celebrate the First Anniversary of their KING'S Chinese restaurant in San Mateo's Shoreview Shopping Center. All during the month of October the Fongs will offer each luncheon guest a free soft drink and every dinner guest a complimentary anniversary dessert. Also, with each $5 purchase during October, you'll receive a dollar discount meal ticket for your next visit in November or December. Be sure to ask about their Surprise Dinner Special for Two ($6.50).....Many major changes are slated to take place within the next six weeks at AIRPORT MARINA HOTEL in Burlingame. Several of these changes will be in Shipwreck Kelly's lounge. Other changes will include the addition of an Omelette Parlor and a new mid-day seafood buffet. Sports fans will be delighted with the new giant screen television system, which is currently being installed.

Seal Tour Season at Ano Nuevo

Reservations to see the elephant seals at Ano Nuevo State Reserve this winter may be made beginning Oct. 1 by phoning 879-0227 or 879-0228 any day of the week from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. State Parks Area Manager Roger Werts has announced.

The tours will be from Dec. 1 through March 31, seven days a week beginning at 8:15 a.m. The dunes area of the reserve, in southern San Mateo County, will be closed during that period except for official guided tours.

The seals have attracted increasingly large numbers of visitors during the last several winters, and tour reservations are expected to fill long before the end of the season. Werts urged groups and individuals who hope to see the elephant seals this winter to get their reservations early.

Similar closures the last four winters were highly successful in allowing a more natural development of the seal herd in the area. More than 500 elephant seals appeared on the mainland at Ano Nuevo State Reserve last winter: 108 adult females, 86 pups born on the mainland, and the rest males of various ages. The seal population on the mainland at any one time reached a maximum of 363, compared with 183 the previous year and 72 in 1976.

The popularity of the reserve during the seal season has made it necessary to limit the number of visitors and types of visitor use. The regulations have been adopted to protect the public, the elephant seals, and the natural resources of the fragile dunes, Wert said.

Marina Possibility Seen for Mori's Point

A mixture of uses including the recommendation that Mori's Point be commercially developed with more restaurants and possibly a marina has been proposed for the remaining undeveloped portions of Pacifica's coastline.

In conjunction with preparation of an update of the city's general plan, a coastal zone land use plan has been prepared by planning consultants Ironside and Associates.

After extensive meetings with the public, Planning Commission and City Council, the report has been released.

Detailed maps and recommendations have been provided for the six coastal neighborhoods in Pacifica.

Following is a summary of the plan:

Fairmont West — The land along Palmetto Avenue above the Dollaradio Station should be developed with homes with a minimum of one-half acres per home site. The site across the street, below Pacific Points condominiums, should be set aside for condominiums.

If the bluff-top area is developed, beach access will be required.

The commercial district in this neighborhood is described as an "economically struggling" one which can be improved rather than expanded.

At the end of Aura Vista on the Esplanade is vacant land that would be suitable for high-density development in keeping with the nature of other developments in the area.

At the end of Manor Drive a public parking area and beach access should be provided, with financing coming from the state Department of Fish and Game and other agencies.

If public funding cannot be found, the area should be developed with a high density of homes.

The largest vacant ocean-view land in this neighborhood is the nine acres along Milagra Creek, which should be developed with a campground. Beach access and parking should be provided.

West Sharp Park — The most significant recommendation for this area is that more beach parking be provided with access to the fishing pier and Sharp Park State Beach.

A 20-space parking lot is proposed for the east side of Santa Maria Avenue on Beach Avenue, with beach access across the street from the parking lot.

On-street diagonal parking along Beach Boulevard should be removed and a 140-space parking lot built on Beach Boulevard between the sewer treatment plant and Clarendon Avenue.

Where commercial development takes place, suggested uses are those oriented to the visitor, such as snack shops, sports shops, stores to browse in and a bait shop.

"The appearance of the fishing pier should also be visually enhanced to attract visitors in the commericial area," the land use plan states.

If and when a new City Hall is built elsewhere, the present facility should be set aside as a historic landmark and community center with the rest of the site being used as a park.

To protect the residential character of the neighborhood, it is proposed that the sewage treatment plant and scavenger company's garage be discouraged from expanding.

Another 70 spaces of parking in lots along Palmetto Avenue, one block from the beach, also is proposed.

Mori Point-Rockaway Beach — The north slope of Mori's Point has been designated a special study area, meaning any development should be planned as a unit.

Suggested uses, which would take advantage of the view, include a restaurant or small inn being located on the west end. Parking for fisherman also should be provided.

Because there is not a high demand for visitor-serving commerical development in Pacifica, a further recommendation is that some of the site should be developed with homes.

The quarry site at the inner area of Mori Point is called "critical to the coastal image of the city" because of its location.

Commercial development of the flat portion of the site should be geared to the visitor, such as restaurants, small shops, a sporting goods store and a marina.

The report states that the Army Corps of Engineers has been asked to study the potential of a marina along the coast but it is not known when the study will be done.

If a marina is not possible, then a beach acess and public parking near Rockaway Beach should be designed.

Homes along the upper slopes should be designed so that they contour to the hillside.

In Rockaway Beach another parking lot below the Headlands is proposed, a local road around the developed area should be built and a unifying design theme for the existing commerical developments is needed.

The Headlands-San Pedro Beach — Public acquisition of the entire beach is preferred, with the northern half of the beach being the most likely area that will be purchased.

Several parking lots for the area are proposed, including another lot on the beach at the end of Crespi Drive, one on Linda Mar Boulevard a block from the beach and another lot on the east side of Highway 1 at Crespi Drive.

and her cities. Labor leaders, officials from the various chambers of commerce and from the civic clubs in San Mateo County, and representatives from such groups as the League of Women Voters and the Bar Association met with the committee, week after week, to speak their minds about San Mateo County government.

In creating the proposed charter, the committee held sentence by sentence debate of the recommendations of its various subcommittees. When the discussions and the testimony that was heard indicated that a clear agreement could be reached, the sentences were referred to a drafting subcommittee that phrased them and brought them back for a second and a third review by the whole subcommittee.

In this manner, though slow and sometimes arduous, the Charter Review Committee prepared a document that reflects the needs and the desires of the residents of San Mateo County.

Among the most significant articles of the proposed charter are those that refer to the powers of the citizens to control their government and the men and women who are elected or appointed to be its officers.

The charter straightens out the lines of authority and accountability among County officers. It insures the rights of employees by setting new guidelines for appeals and for administrative action.

The proposed charter sets broad guidelines for levying taxes and for spending "the peoples" money. It calls for monthly reports and for audits to insure the fiscal accountability of the various departments of the County government.

The new charter addresses the use of parks and open space and provides for their orderly development and operation. It speaks of citizens boards that may be appointed to advise and guide the elected and appointed officials. It even goes so far as to address the desirability of using county products.

Surely passage of the new charter is in the best interests of San Mateo County.

Jefferson Declines Class

A request for permission to set up a demonstration center for a "language master system" in classes for the handicapped was declined by the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees last week because of strings attached to it.

Bell and Howell, manufacturer of the electronic equipment, had offered to put $6,000 to $8,000 worth of its products into the classes in return for permission to use it as a show case for potential customers from other school districts.

The Jefferson district already uses the language master system and this could mean considerable traffic through the class rooms, despite the training the Jefferson district's own personnel would gain from having the new equipment, the board decided. It was suggested that if district teachers needed the training they could go to the nearest language master center, in Los Angeles, for it.

In other business the board:

• Approved a schedule change that moves up kindergarten class times 10 minutes at Daniel Webster School.

• Declared four trucks and vans surplus and ordered them sold at auction.

Details are to be worked out by the staff.

• Heard from the staff that nine persons on the district staff have completed their probationary periods and now are eligible for tenure.

ACCEPTABILITY:
The Times reserves the right to reject, censor and properly classify any advertisement.

THE FIRST WORD of each 8 point type ad will be spelled out. Abbreviations will be accepted on the first word in 12 point or larger type lines. However, any ad that does not begin with an alphabetical character will not be in alphabetical sequence.

DEADLINE: Classified advertising must be placed by 12:00 noon day preceding publication, Monday through Friday, 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication and 48 hours preceding holidays.

CANCELLATION: Cancellation orders must be received before 3:00 p.m. on the day preceding publication for all line advertisements appearing in The Times from Tuesday through Saturday and before 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication. Display Classified must be cancelled in writing 48 hours prior to publication date.

ERRORS: No responsibility is assumed by publisher for errors in any advertisement covered by order, nor for the omission of any advertisement in whole or in part, nor for failure to comply with the placement of advertising as ordered either as to frequency or volume. In no event shall publisher be liable for special damages or consequential damages even if it has been notified of the possibility of such damages.

Errors in published advertisements must be reported immediately and if done, publisher will publish an appropriate correction and where publisher deems it necessary a rerun of the advertisement as corrected, if in publisher's judgment the error substantially varies the meaning of the advertisement as ordered. Such corrections will be made only as to those advertisements which are ordered for one insertion, and as to the first insertion only when ordered for more than one insertion.
